WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 9, 1864

Indications.

We are very much pleased to read from day to day from all sections of our common country, accounts of prominent copperheads changing their front and coming out squarely for the Union. Whether these changes be based upon conviction of the wrong done by the course heretofore pursued by the enemies of the Government, or by a professed sense of the hopelessness of the cause in which the copperheads as a party have been and are engaged, it is at any rate the strongest possible compliment to the correctness of the course pursued by the Government. When we see, as we daily do, that prominent politicians—men whose whole lives have been passed in the political arena, find it necessary for their future prospects to renounce their factious opposition to the Government and fall into line on Union ground. Such instances as these accorded to, with the present condition of the financial market, and the iterated and reiterated telegraphic victories to the Union cause, tend to increase our confidence in the sober second thought of the people; not indeed in the results of the war, for of those there never has been any reasons for ultimate doubt. Finally, one week's time from the present, when the news touching yesterday's election shall have come in announcing, as it infallibly must, the triumphant reelection of President Lincoln, will amply prove to traitors in our midst, to rebels in arms and to foreign sympathizers with rebellion, that the great work of the noble founders of our Government is not to be overthrown by politicians however wily and astute, or by army leaders, however brave and unscrupulous—a proof, too, of such a nation as will for all time preserve us from the recurrence of such another calamity as has been to us all the experience of the last three years.

THE STATE FAIR.—The S. F. Spirit of the Times, speaking of the late State Fair, says:

We are pleased to know that the State Fair is a success in every way. The gentlemen residing in our city whose fine horses participated in the exhibition all, as with one voice, say that for liberality of prizes offered, uniform equity in the rulings of awards, and general courtesy to visitors, displayed not only by the officers of the society, but by all the people of Sacramento, they never saw the equal of the State Fair of 1864. May the same clear heads and liberal hearts be intrusted with the direction of affairs in future, and the prosperity of the California State Agricultural Society will date its rejuvenation from the Horse Fair that was held in 1864.

ARMY RESTRICTION.—The following order of Gen. Grant's has been promulgated:

Head-Quarters of the U. S., City Point, Va., Sept. 8, '64.
Brigadier-General M. R. Patrick, Provost-Marshal General Armies operating against Richmond, City Point, Virginia.
General:—The attention of Lieut. Gen. Grant having been called to the large quantities of liquor being brought within the lines of the armies operating against Richmond, directs that from and after this date, you prohibit all kinds of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, from being brought above Fort Monroe, Va., except such as belong to the Commissary or Medical Departments.

I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

T. S. BOWERS, A. A. G.

ACCIDENT AT LA PORTE.—Our correspondent at La Porte writes us under date of Oct. 17: "The Union celebration is passing off gloriously, and the town crowded with good and true Union boys from above. I regret to add that as the St. Louis Artillery Company were firing a salute at sundown, Jessie Walter and William Youdell—miners of St. Louis, were severely injured by the premature discharge of the gun. Their hands are badly shattered, and it was found necessary to amputate several fingers. Appeal."

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE UNION DAILY VEDETTE.]

New York, Nov. 1th.

Intelligence received from Mexico to-day, states that Garcia De Lacardina, Sandeval and other Juarez leaders in the Department of Zactacs, have given in their adherence to the Imperial Government. General Mejia, in the name of the Imperialists, has installed himself at Matamoros. Jurists is there, having also submitted to the new order of things.

Telegraph lines are to be established between pending cities of Mexico, communicating by way of Texas with the United States. Another line will connect Mexico with Yucatan. Submarine cable will be laid to Cuba. In this way it is expected that Mexico City will soon be direct in communication with New York, Havana and San Francisco.

Forces lately under command of Gen. Ortega, are said to be completely dispersed. Whole Companies voluntarily come to various municipal authorities and laid down arms.

ELOPEMENT AND RESCUE.—The San Francisco Bulletin records the following case of the rescue of a young girl from the arms of a libertine:

On Thursday morning, October 27th, a woman came to the Police office in great distress. It seems that she is the mother of two daughters, one thirteen years of age and the other a year younger. She stated to the Chief of Police that her eldest daughter had left home at six o'clock that morning, and she knew not where she had gone, but suspected she had been enticed away by a certain young man who had been in the habit of visiting her. Officer Hess was put upon the track, and about 11 o'clock that night found that the couple had that morning gone over the Bay on the Oakland boat. Next morning he followed them, found that they had left Oakland in the stage, had stopped at Hayward's to dinner, had passed the Warm Springs, and upon arriving at San Jose found them snugly ensconced at the Mansion House as man and wife. The man was immediately taken into custody, and the girl was questioned by the officer. She said she left home with the man under the promise that they were to be married immediately upon their arrival at San Jose. She had seen enough to be convinced that she had been deceived, and was now anxious to return to her mother. Both parties were brought up from San Jose this morning, but as the mother did not wish to have her daughter's name appear in connection with the matter, no prosecution was made, and the fellow was discharged, upon promising never to see or molest the girl again. The fellow's motives were of the basest kind, but fortunately for the strength of mind of the girl, he was unable to carry them into execution, and she has been returned to her mother's arms as pure and spotless as when she left them. The family have been here but a few months from the East, and made the acquaintance of the man on the steamer.

A CLERK ABSCONDS.—It is stated that E. H. Jacquelin, formerly agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., at Marysville, and for a year past acting as clerk at the New York desk, in San Francisco, has absconded with $4,000 of the company's money. He is supposed to have left San Francisco on Thursday, Oct. 27th, on board the barque Whistler, bound for the Sandwich Islands. —Carson Post.

AN EDITOR HAVING. read in another paper that there is a tobacco which, if a man smokes or chews will make him forget that he owes a dollar in the world, innocently concludes that many of his subscribers have been furnished with the article.

A WELL FED ARMY.—The Federal army is probably the best fed one that ever had an existence. Notwithstanding the swindles attempted by contractors in every branch of the Commissary Department to which they have access, the honesty and energy of the old army officers who have charge of that important bureau, prevents the army from being victimized to any serious extent. Rotten meat is now the exception in the army instead of the rule, as it was during the earlier part of the golden age of shoddyism. In quality, as in quantity, the rations satisfy the soldiers. They are fed up to the apoplectic point. The bill of fare for the fall and winter season is fresh beef, salt beef, salt pork, mackerel, codfish, potatoes, onions, cabbages, turnips, beets, rice, hominy, sour kraut, cabbage and curry, pickles, coffee, tea, sugar and a variety of condiments, and hard and soft bread. These are the essentials. There are a great many home delicacies such as preserved cherries, peaches, blackberries, raspberries and strawberries, for hospital use. Numerous quantities of these delicious fruits are put up on Government contract. Large amounts are also supplied free by generous individuals, and dispensed to the troops through the agency of the Sanitary Commission. Tons of preserved blackberries have been sent this summer to the Army of the Potomac. Good feeding like this serves not only to keep up the courage and muscle of our brave men, but irresistibly wins over many a deserter. The rebels can stand Federal bullets better than the odor of Federal coffee; and the appetizing incense of a beefsteak or stew has succeeded where bayonets have failed in bringing them to an unconditional surrender. —N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

FRAUDULENT TICKETS SENT TO THE ARMY.—The N. Y. Tribune of Oct. 8th has the following, which serves to explain the late dispatches concerning arrests of parties engaged in forging soldiers' votes:

The Judge Advocate General of this State has within the week been violating the spirit of the Soldiers' Voting Law, and pushing a fraud upon the rights of the warrior electors of New York absent in the armies. He has been seen to send the ballots of one party only, to the Army of the Potomac—not the tickets of both political parties, as justice, manhood and duty require him to send, if he sends at all—but the Presidential and State tickets of the McClellan concern alone. A bureau of the State Government unquestionably has been used, and the money of the State undoubtedly will be used in this paralyzing misbehavior of the people's officer. Worse than this! Nelson J. Waterbury has sent Copperhead Electoral and State ballots to the army, fraudulently and knowingly indorsed by somebody. "Union Soldiers' Vote." Underneath the head line "Electors," which is set in a semi-circle, is the likeness of McClellan, with noticeable moustache and buttons.

BLACK FOGS—LOSING ONE'S WAY ON THE SALINAS PLAINS.—Since the 1st of September the Lower coast has been agreeably affected by heavy and dense canopies of black fogs, particularly at night. Many instances have occurred of horsemen losing themselves immediately after nightfall and being kept out in the cold till daylight. The San Louis Obispo stage got completely astray, on the Salinas Plains not many nights ago by losing the road, which is very easily done just now from the burnt up state of the earth, and wandered about five or six hours, until by fortune they descried a light and found themselves back again in the vicinity of their last stopping place. Losing oneself in one of these black fogs is attended with much danger in such immense stretches as the Salinas, and the Guadalupe Largo, as not only have carts and wagons often been smashed to pieces, but animals have lost their lives and men have been seriously lamed and injured for life. If a heavy afternoon fog overtakes one close to darkness, the old fashion of the country is to make camp at the nearest and best spot till the moon or sun rises. What is curious about these dense fogs lately, is that they occur with dead calms often, and though near the earth, are so dry as not to deposit the least particle of moisture. —Bulletin.

"Well," said a Republican orator, at a meeting in Meridan, "I, too, am a peace man—but when peace comes, I pray God she may come in the shape of a white winged angel, and not in the form of a white faced slave, chained under the bloody feet of an aristocratic rebellion."

A PIECE OF HISTORY.—Rev. J. J. Marks, in his history of the "Peninsula" campaign in Virginia, furnishes the following statement about McClellan's retreat from Malvern Hill:

"The battle was over, but the cannonading still continued, and shells and balls of every kind tore through the woods in a ceaseless whirlwind of fury. In the meantime, thousands of the confederates fled in the wildest confusion from the scene, and hid themselves in swamps and hollows; soldiers without guns, horsemen without caps and swords, came to the hospitals in the battle-field of Glendale, and reported that their regiments and their brigades were swept away, and they alone 'escaped to tell the tale.' It is one of the strangest things in this week of disaster that General McClellan ordered a retreat to Harrison's Landing, six miles down the James River, after we had gained so decided a victory. When this order was received by the impatient and eager army, confusion and excitement overwhelmed our patriotic and ardent hosts. Some refused to obey the command. General Martindale shed tears of shame. The brave and chivalrous Kearney said in the presence of many officers: 'I Philip Kearney, an old soldier, enter my solemn protest against this order for retreat—we ought, instead of retreating, to follow up the enemy and take Richmond. And in full view of all the responsibility of such a declaration, I say to you all, such an order can only be prompted by cowardice or treason.' And with all, hopelessness and despair succeeded the flush of triumph. In silence and gloom, our victorious army commenced retiring from an enemy utterly broken, scattered and panic-stricken. And when there was not a foe within miles of us, we left our wounded behind to perish, and any one witnessing the wild eagerness of our retreat, would have supposed that we were in the greatest peril from a vigilant and triumphant enemy."

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.—About 7 o'clock last evening, a German girl, by the name of Frances Craybaum, was thrown from a buggy, on C street, near the Washoe livery stable, and almost instantly killed by having her neck broken. She died in a few minutes after being taken into a drug store near by. The young lady was about 18 or 20 years of age, and arrived in this Territory with her parents about two months ago. The family came from Iowa, and crossed the Plains this season. The girl's father and mother reside near the Gould & Curry mill, and her mother is lying dangerously ill—so much so that her father, when informed of the girl's death, was unable to leave his wife to take charge of the corpse. He sent word to have her taken home, and preparations were at once made to comply with his wishes, and an inquest will be held upon the body to-day at the residence of the girl's parents. When the accident occurred, the girl was riding in a buggy with Albert Wesseler, and the two were returning from Silver City, where they had gone in the morning. The accident which threw the girl from the buggy was occasioned by the breaking of the king bolt. Wesseler escaped without injury. —Vir. Union, Oct. 21.

DISPUTE AND ASSAULT AS TO LAND BOUNDARIES.—The San Jose Patriot of Oct. 26th, says:

An affray took place on Tuesday evening in Calaveras Valley, in which Christobal Pollameras, Jose Pollameras and another Mexican were on one side, and A. Chabolla and one Gomes on the other. It arose out of a dispute in regard to land boundaries, and occurred while one of the parties was laying a line of fence. Firearms were freely used, both parties having shot at each other three times. Late on Tuesday night Chabolla came to the city and swore out a warrant against the two Pollameras and the other Mexican, and Sheriff Adams went out on Wednesday and arrested the three. One of the Pollameras then swore out warrants against Chabolla and Gomes, and they were arrested by the Sheriff—charges in both cases being assault with intent to kill. In the affray a ball passed through Chabolla's hat, and the Chabolla party put a ball into the body of a horse on which a Pollameras rode, and the animal, it is thought, will die.

DIED AT CAMP.—A soldier named Jas. Davis died at Camp Union at an early hour on Saturday morning and was buried at New Helvetia Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Davis was a member of Co. B, Third Inf'y, and having served out nearly three years had returned from Salt Lake for the purpose of being mustered out of service. On Friday he came into the city and became intoxicated. During the evening, after his return, he was quite noisy and troublesome. He was first placed in the guard house by order of the officer of the day, Lieutenant McKenry, and continuing to be noisy he was ordered to be "bucked and gagged." This order was obeyed, and after the lapse of two or three hours, a short time after midnight, he was found to be in a dying condition. The gag was taken from his mouth and he expired in about fifteen minutes. Drs. Wood, Ferris and Nixon subsequently made a post-mortem examination and reported that death was caused by congestion of the brain, superinduced by the excessive use of liquor. Coroner Reeves, on ascertaining that the physicians above named had investigated the case, deemed it unnecessary to hold an inquest over the body. Davis was a native of Philadelphia, and was about forty-four years of age. —San Union, Oct. 31.

SILVER ORE IN ACROSA.—The Aurora Union of Oct. 24th, has the annexed:

Yesterday evening we saw on exhibition, at the office of Wells, Fargo & Co., a splendid specimen of silver bearing quartz, from the Osceola lead, Montgomery district. It was brought to this city by Parker's Express. It weighs about ten pounds, and is said to contain over thirty dollars in silver. We are informed that the company owning the lead are engaged in taking out the ore, which will be put in sacks and sent to the smelting furnace for reduction. It is believed by gentlemen who have seen and examined the lead, that some of the rock, if carefully selected, would yield $15,000 to the ton. The specimen at the Express office will be sent to San Francisco.

AN ABSCONDING BROKER.—It is constantly reported on the streets that P. H. Howlett, a broker, who has had an office in the Morgan building, has "dusted" for British Columbia, leaving a large number of trusting friends out and injured, some in money and some in stocks. —Ibid.

JEROME CHASE.—That General Chase intends to change his position (name) tomorrow it would be unreasonable to expect him to be so jubilant now as he used to be.

Local Matters.

OUR DEVIL MAKES A HUGE BET AND BACKS DOWN.—The important personage above referred to came to our Chair yesterday, and says: "Mr. Local will you bet on the election?" We immediately informed him that we were ready to accept any wager against the election of "Little Mac." This did not seem to be the point aimed at by our Devil, as he informed us that his object in challenging us for a bet, was on the majority that California would give President Lincoln—and on asking him the greatest majority on which he would stake his money—he answered that he would bet $10 that the Union majority would not reach 10,000 in the "Golden State," whereupon we immediately drew our weasel and made preparations to place our stakes in reliable hands. On seeing our readiness to accept his wager, our Devil gave his mouth a still larger gap—"if possible," and says: "Mr. Local (with a slight "wilt" perceptible in his features) if I had the money, I would bet." To this timely suggestion we could not suppress a hearty ha-ha, and at once proposed sundry ways for the immediate supply of the wherewith; but, through all our straggle we could not make any plan seem feasible to our challenger, so after a pretty thorough cornering at all points of his brave and hazardous proposition, he concluded with the following: "I'll tell you what's the fact, and that I'll do sure, I'll bet you that our honored President don't get a very awfully big, darned, large heap of votes over McClellan." Our readers must not infer from the above that our "Imp" is a "mac man."—he would resent the insult, but he is scared lest the "infernal Copperheads" who have immigrated to California, should poll a big vote.

The National Minstrels will perform on Thursday instead of Wednesday evening, as stated in yesterday's issue. Their programme is entirely new. Those who have not seen Billy Sheppard should avail themselves of the pleasure to-morrow evening.

John A. Creighton, Esq., as will be noticed in the advertisement of Mr. G. W. Carleton, is appointed Agent for the Telegraph Company at Virginia City, Montana Territory, with full authority to transact all business, receive and deliver dispatches, etc., at that point.

Cold winter weather is all the rage in these parts. Water turns to icicles, hands and toes turn to aching, and the general thought turns to muffling.

McClellan's Answer.—The country to McClellan—"Are you for war or for peace?" McClellan to the country—"I do not remember."—Ez.

Ask him to-day what he is for, and his answer will be, "I guess I'm for nothing."

An auctioneer is like a man with an ugly countenance, for he is always forbidding.

FRENCH OPINION OF THE MOBILE FRONT.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Times writes, under date of September 9th, as follows:

Some of the friendly papers have reproduced the lengthy and interesting report of the operations of Admiral Farragut in Mobile Bay from the Messenger Franco-Americain, of New York, and I am told that this description of that remarkable naval combat has been widely read and commented on in Governmental circles. The Admiral's tactics are regarded as in many points new and ingenious and as showing him to be a man not only of great ordinary naval ability, but also a man possessing great initiative, and the courage to carry his plans into execution. The sides of the Tennessee were also stronger than those of any European vessel, if properly built, and the 15-inch ball which finally penetrated these immense walls of wood and iron, is a larger ball than is in use in Europe, or than was deemed possible or necessary to use. This combat is therefore a new astonishment in naval warfare, and will require new investigations as to whether the European navies of the present moment are not too far behind for the safety of the States they defend.

A SAD CASE.—The elder Mathews one day arrived at a forlorn country inn, and addressing a lugubrious waiter, inquired if he could have a chicken and asparagus. The mysterious serving man shook his head.

"Can I have a duck, then?"
"No, sir."
"Have you any mutton chops?"
"Not one, sir."
"Then, as you have no eatables bring me something to drink.—have you any spirits?"
"Sir," replied the man, with a profound sigh, "We are out of spirits."
"Then in God's name what have you got in the house?"
"An execution, sir."

JOHN BULL IN AMERICA.—An Englishman went into a grocery store in New York lately to make a few purchases, but was not suited with the prices, so he broke out with, "What a bloody country! I could get more for two pence at home than I can here for half a crown."

"Why the devil then didn't you stay at home?" said the angry grocer.

"I'll tell you," replied the Englishman; "I couldn't get the two pence."

A HEAVY LOSS.—Tuesday, about 11 o'clock, A. M., H. Oyer went into the drug store of Mr. Armistage, near the corner of C and Union streets, to pay a gentleman some money, transacted his business on the counter, left the store, and some time afterwards found that he had lost the sum of $3,460 in greenbacks, which he is quite sure he left on the counter. The matter will undergo judicial investigation, being already in the hands of Soule and Patterson, formerly detectives.—Ibid.

The whole number of sheep in Ohio, is 3,000,000, and this year's wool will be 19,000,000 pounds, worth $16,000,000. Throughout the west the farmers are taking the money they get for their wool and investing it in more sheep, as wool-growing is very profitable just now.
